How might society benefit if children were recognized as independent thinkers, capable of seeing clearly and contributing in valuable ways to our world? How would children’s lives change if what they said was not often ignored or patronized? In a series of conversations with children about many of life’s important philosophical questions, the book SEEN AND NOT HEARD: Why Children’s Voices Matter by Jana Mohr Lone reveals children as perceptive and original thinkers. Guided by discussions about the meaning of childhood, friendship, justice and fairness, happiness, and death, the book invites us to rethink our beliefs about children and become more receptive to the ways we can learn from them. In this book launch, we will discuss several features of this important book.

Participants:

Prof. Walter Omar Kohan
(University of Rio de Janeiro, Brazil)

Prof. Arie Kizel
(University of Haifa and president of ICPIC, The International Council of Philosophical Inquiry with Children)

Dr. Natalie M. Fletcher
(Université de Montréal; Founding director, Brila Youth Projects; Research coordinator, Institute of Philosophy, Citizenship and Youth)

And Prof. Jana Mohr Lone

Details: akizel@edu.haifa.ac.il